AN

ANALYTICAL INQUIRY

INTO THE

PRINCIPLES OF TASTE.

BY RICHARD PAYNE KNIGHT.

THE FOURTH EDITION.

Quid placet aut odio est, quod non mutabile credas?
Tacis gani vos esse exicticas adhibitis,
Ochus et timea angus patris adagm tu dévonte.

London:
Printed by Luke Hannard & Sons, near Lincoln's-Inn Fields,
FOR
T. PAYNE, 88, PALL-MALL; AND J. WHITE, FLEET-STREET.
1803.
CONTENTS.

INTRODUCTION, p. 1.

Containing a Sceptical View of the Subject:
1. In its Principles.
2. In Building, Furniture, Gardening, and Dress.
3. In imitative Art.
4. In Style.
5. In the Productions of Nature.
6. Of the Word Beauty.
7. Applied to intellectual as well as sensible Qualities.
8. Variations in its Meaning.
9. As to the Sexes in Mankind.
10. Mr. Hume's Opinion considered.
11. Sexual Tastes of Brutes.
12. Double Meaning of the word Taste.

PART I. p. 19.

OF SENSATION.

CHAP. I. OF THE SENSE OF TASTE.

1. Its Organs.
2. Primary or simple Sensation.
3. Variation.
4. Irritation.
5. In different Individuals.
7 & 8. Vitiates and morbid Palates.
9. Their Pleasures and Habits.
10. Why fixed and indispensable.
11. Intoxicating Qualities.
CONTENTS.

CHAP. II. OF SMELL.
1. Its Organs, and their Modes of Action.
2. Connected with mental Sympathies in Brutes.
3. In Dogs.
4. In Oxen.
5. Mr. Burke's Opinion considered.

CHAP. III. OF TOUCH.
1. Its Modes and Limits—Smoothness.
2. Sexual Sympathies—Irritation.
3. Titillation.
5. Internal Stimuli.
6. External Stimuli in Plants.
7. Sensation of Plants, organic Sensations in general.
8. Have no Resemblance to Objects or Ideas. Evidence of Sense.
9. Ideas—according to Plato.
10. Scepticism.
13. Various Pleasures of Cessation or inverted Action.

CHAP. IV. OF HEARING.
1. Organs and Modes of Action.
2. Sound—how conveyed.
4. Its Effects, Modes, and Degrees of Irritation.
5. Simple and mixed Tones.
CONTENTS

6. Connected with mental Sympathies in Animals.
8. Expression in Music.
10. Verse.
12. Measure and Quantity.
13. How violated in the dead Languages.
14. How far addressed to organic Sense.
16. Distance and Direction of Sounds.
17. Their Grandeur and Sublimity.

CHAP. V. OF SIGHT.

1. Its Causes.
3. Distance.
4. Visible Magnitude.
5. Error of Mr. Burke.
8. Reflected and refracted Lights. Effects of Colours, simple and mixed.
9. Sensual or visible Beauty.
10. Degrees of Sensibility in the Organs.
11 & 12. Smoothness, Sharpness, and Brillancy in polished and transparent Objects.
13. In the Coats of Animals.
15. Neatness.
17. Illustrated by particular Instances. Deceptions of Sight.
CONTENTS.

18. Mixed Qualities and Sensations—how separated.
19. Adverse Opinions of Mr. Price and Boileau.
20. Grottesques.
21. Mixed Qualities and Sensations further explained.
22. Consequence of Mr. Burke's Doctrine of Beauty.
23. Mr. Burke's System compared with that of Sir Joshua Reynolds.
24. Illustrated by Examples of the Temples of Vesta and Indian Domes.
25. The latter further examined. MentalSympathies.
27. Sexual Predilections—their Influence and Effects.
28. Force of Light—as reflected.
29. As acting directly upon the eye. Mr. Burke's Error.
30. Darkness. Mr. Burke's Notion of it examined.
31. Other Privations compared with it.
32. Difficulty of considering Sensation alone.
33. Particularly in Vision.
34. Progress of Perception.
35. Its Effect in reducing the Pleasures of Sense.

PART II. p. 99.

OF THE ASSOCIATION OF IDEAS.

CHAP. I. OF KNOWLEDGE OR IMPROVED PERCEPTION.

1. Artificial Perception—how far independent of organic Sensation.
2. Imitative Art.
CONTENTS.

3. Imitation in general.
4. Its Pleasures of short Duration.
5. Science in Art—its Pleasures.
7. Originals and Copies—their Difference.
8. Drawings and unfinished Sketches.
10. Mental Habits—their Effect on Sensation.
11. Exactitude of Imitation—where vicious.
12. Where just and necessary—in Painting.
13. In Sculpture.
14. Sculpture compared with Painting.
16. Articulate Language and inarticulate Notes.
17. Idiom in Language, Rhythm, Prosody.
18. Melody in Language.
19. Modes of Articulation.
20. Verse considered in the Abstract.
21. As connected with Sense or Meaning.
27. Verse necessary to Poetry, and wherefore.
28. Paradise Lost.
30. In Thomson and Cowper.
31. Inversions and Transpositions.
33. Their different Effects in Poetry.
CONTENTS.

34. Various Effects of Verse.
35. Vicious Modes of pronouncing Greek and Latin.
36, 37. Why they do not destroy the Character of Verse.

CHAP. II. OF IMAGINATION.

1. Association of Ideas—when become habitual, involuntary.
2. Its Effects on Temper and Disposition. Lunacy.
3. Intoxication.
4. Dreams.
5. Anxiety, Grief, and Vexation.
6. Vivacity, Wit, Madness.
7. Idiocy.
8. Memory—how connected with Imagination.
9. Memory—artificial.
10. Natural, but unregulated.
11. Proser and Prattlers.
13. In social and moral.
14. In the fine Arts.
15. The Picturesque.
16. Origin and Use of this Word.
17. Its proper Meaning.
18. Style of Painting at its Revival.
21. Thence the Distinction of Picturesque.
22. Which could not have existed before.
23. In what Sense picturesque Objects may not be beautiful.
24. Objects purely picturesque.
25. Pleasures of Sense and Intellect improve each other.