In some areas of England there are schools for children under 5 years of age. Some boys and girls from two to five go there. Many parents organise informal playgroups for their children to keep them busy from 9 a.m. till 4 p.m. While parents are at work or busy in the house, children in these groups play, have lunch and sleep. Parents usually pay to keep their children in such groups, schools, or classes.

Primary education begins at the age of 5. Classes are not very long — about 20 minutes. Boys and girls have classes of reading, writing, and arithmetic.

1. Children who are not 5 years of age have classes of reading, writing, and arithmetic.
2. Some parents send their children to playgroups.
3. Playgroups are usually free.
4. Primary education in England begins before children become 5.
5. Classes in English primary schools are fairly long.
6. In primary schools teachers give their pupils classes of writing and reading.

English school year has three terms, three months each. The names of the terms are autumn term, winter term, and spring term. The autumn term starts on the first Tuesday morning in September. In summer there is the longest break or holidays up to eight weeks. Life at school is more or less the same everywhere. There are usually about 30 pupils in a group and in many schools they wear uniforms. Pupils have classes that are 40—50 minutes long. Between the lessons there are breaks. Lunch time begins at about one p.m. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon school is over and pupils go home.

1. There are four terms in an English school year.
2. The names of school terms, in fact, are the names of seasons.
3. The autumn term doesn't start on Monday.
4. Summer holidays in England are about two months.
5. Spring and winter holidays are longer than summer holidays.

ВАРИАНТ 3 (обычный уровень сложности)

1 Прочитай текст и отметь те утверждения после него, которые соответствуют содержанию (Т).

In a usual English classroom there is a blackboard, a teacher's desk, and pupils' desks. Nowadays people don't often use the word "blackboard" because class boards are usually green or brown. Normally people speak about chalk boards, white boards, or just boards. There are also laboratories for physics, chemistry, and biology in most secondary schools. There are also rooms for computer studies and language laboratories. Many schools have gyms, games halls, and playgrounds in front of the school buildings and pupils do sports there. Pupils of most secondary schools in Britain have to wear uniforms. Shoes are usually black or brown. Young people in Britain often don't like the uniforms they have to wear.

1. Classroom furniture is more or less the same in all British schools.
2. You can't often hear the word "blackboard" in English schools nowadays.
3. Pupils can use different school laboratories.
4. Pupils can have physical education lessons only in gyms.
5. In some British schools pupils don't wear school uniforms.
6. Young people in Britain are really fond of their school uniforms.
